❧ SUBSCRIPTION INFORMATION

Founded in 1980 by Will Rueter, Glenn Goluska and Paul Forage, DA / The Devil's Artisan is one of the major Canadian journals devoted to printing, typography and the book arts.

The 'Devil's Artisan' was a medieval term for a practitioner of the 'art and mystery' of printing. In publishing our little journal, editor Don McLeod, and publishers Tim & Elke Inkster, try to maintain that early sense of curiosity about the craft of printing.

'Just a note from someone so happy to receive your beautiful magazine. I particularly appreciated the article on Frank Newfeld who designed several of my book jackets. The care and good taste you devote to your publication reaches way back for me to the glory days of Canadian culture, and I am so grateful to you for preserving and reviving it.' – Peter C. Newman, author

The Devil's Artisan is distributed primarily in Canada, but we are also pleased to engage subscribers from Scotland, England, Wales, Australia, Israel and seventeen states of the American Union. The magazine is proud of its long-standing relations with the National Libraries of Scotland and Wales, the Saint Bride Printing Library and the London College of Printing, the libraries of Cornell and Columbia universities, the State University of Queensland, Australia, the Grolier Club of New York, and the American Antiquarian Society; also the Arts and Letters Club of Toronto, the Library of Massey College, the Thomas Fisher Rare Book Library and the Alcuin Society of Vancouver.

Subscriptions are for two issues per calendar year -- in May and in December. On-line orders available through abebooks.com; digital orders through <http://store.porcupinesquill.ca/devils-artisan>
